By the Creator of
Dental Phone Excellence,
Jayne Bandy

There's only one thing separating good dental practices like yours, from those dentists who are consistently bringing home six figures a month, and more. But this one thing is absolutely critical!

And that's having GREAT people, with GREAT skills and confidences working on the front desk of those Dental practices.

You see, the most successful dentists have definitely managed to “differentiate” themselves from their competition by the way their phones are consistently answered. They know, if your phone is answered poorly then your practice is really no different from anyone else's. And as you know, this has NO upside.

“Creating a serious differential for your dental practice phone is much easier than you think.”

Jayne Bandy is a highly-respected international dental team coach with clients concentrated in Australia, UK, Europe and North America. And now Jayne and her team can help your Front Office Team Members learn all the skills they need to be better on your office phones.

With Call Tracking Excellence, your team will receive regular Zoom calls to review your office phone calls and improve your phone techniques.

Better phone techniques equals more patients!
